Portable Clip Library

With Portable Clip Library you can save any command with an easy to remember name, put your notes on how to use the command in the clip help, and then the actual command in the clip text box. Later when you need to use the command you can select it with a click. The clip text is automatically copied to your computer's clip board. You can use nearly any software that uses the clip board with Portable Clip Library. It is like having your own special shortcuts for any program.
