MacDeveloper

MacDeveloper is a marketplace for organizations to post outsourced projects to an excellent pool of professionally minded developers in a convenient, easy to use, reverse auction styled environment. With simplicity as the guiding principle, MacDeveloper was designed to help folks who "can do" meet folks who "need done" without imposing a financial burden on either side of the transaction. Developers pay low subscription fees, Buyers have free access and get their job done. Post your project at no obligation. With so many programs becoming cross platform, your project will benefit from the expertise of developers who understand and work in both Mac and PC environments. No Escrow Accounts: the service is totally free. Our system is streamlined to stay out of the way, allowing you to conduct business as usual. Contract Development Specs are rendered in real time as downloadable PDF files. Once a Project has been awarded, work with the developer any way you choose.
