Element-IT Software

Our software is used for everything from small organizations needs to corporate data exchange solutions. Element-IT features such products as HTTP Commander, web based file manager for Windows servers, which has a lot of advanced features, and PowUpload, our file upload component that lets you upload files to server with low memory leak, progress bar and some other advantages. These products prove themselves to be high-quality, easy-to-use, and efficient - 'must haves' for companies which uses file exchange/management solutions. We are also excited to introduce Element-IT's licensing option which makes it possible to purchase some our products source code, allowing for even more complete integration and reliability.
